LOCAL CRESCENT WINS LOOK-ALIKE CONTEST

AP- Lamoni,Iowa; Jane Snider, a student at Graceland College, won the national "Beuberdine" look-alike contest held in a small town in Indiana. Beuberdine, a native of West Unis, Ohio, lives with her husband,Ed, and their son, Bret. She states,"I've always thought I had unique, unusal and different facial features, but I could'nt believe it when I saw someone else has the same unique appearance". When asked how she so skillfully portrayed Miss Beuberdine, Jane answered,"Oh you guys it was easy, I just finished eating at our cafeteria!"

UNTO US A CHILD IS BORN

God sent the little Christ Child
long centuries ago
To walk and talk with mortal men
on this sinful earth below,
And remember that God's purpose
in sending us His Son
Was to purchase our salvation
when our life on earth was done -
So let us try to follow in His footsteps day by day
By loving more and hating less all men who pass our way.

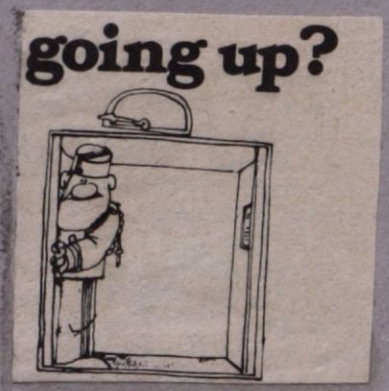
GPA For Fall Semester

The Dean of Students Office released grade point average information this week that gives house-by-hosue figures for the fall.

Topping the list was Sariah, with a cumulative GPA for the fall semester of 3.278. Kimball Manor and Belavera followed with 3.096 and 3.052. Other girls' houses in the top ten were Traver, Mahana, Solah, Paloma, Ananta, and Shalom, in order.

The first men's house to place was Cheville at tenth. Audentia followed in eleventh. The other houses appeared in this order: Chemin, Aaron, Tiona, Closson, Stewart Manor, Edwards, Faunce, Agape, and Dimora. No information is available yet for McKevitt Manor.

These figures are based on on-campus students only. The average GPA for off-campus students, 2.798, is lower than the average for on-campus, which is 2.878. The range for the on-campus figures is frm a high of 3.278 to a low of 2.542. Electa had an average of 2.881, which placed it between Audentia and Chemin.



SARIAH HOUSE SONG

I love Graceland an especially
One house that has made a place for me.
In my heart it lives eternally.
You wonder who-
I'll tell you true.
It's the house that has the greatest fun.
It's the house that gets the best things done.
On my list it always gets the prize,
The house I idolize,
I'll tell you who.

You can stop all your guessin'
'Cuz now I'm confessin'
That of all houses on the hill,
My Sariah is strongest,
And her friendships are longest--
Bonds of trust hold and always will,
From Homecoming playtime
To the lilacs in May time,
Lives together build memories,
Memories that precious grow,
Pictured in the afterglow,
Treasures of my heart are these.

Remembering You
ON VALENTINE'S DAY
Hearts that care remember
Good friends and loved ones, too
And keep in treasured memory
The thoughtful things they do

Valentines Dance
Boogie tonight.

Happy Valentines Day

BRINGING UP THE REAR

By Alicia Kelley

People are hypocritical. They want a nice homey dorm room but spend hours cleaning it to make it look like nobody lives there.

If you want a room to have your personal mark on it, leave your clothes all over the floor, don't make your bed, and don't clean your desk. These signs will let all who enter know that this room belongs to you.

However, the world is filled with Felix Ungers who daily make their beds, dust their books and sweep their floors and they also make us slobs feel guilty.

Personally, I don't feel like a dirty room is a dark spot on my reputation. There is nothing immoral about the fact that I haven't seen my desk top since August. I'm not sure if I have one anymore-but something is supporting my curling iron, term paper, spool of red thread, one pair of ripped jeans, dirty socks, and banana peel. Unless of course the smell from the socks is keeping everything suspended in midair.

I don't blush when people see dirty clothes in the middle of my floor. I can't help it if I ran out of room for them under my bed. Besides, I plan to do my laundry when I go home so I can save money. Of course, I'm not leaving till May but I think I can last.

Things are much simpler in a cluttered room. Instead of digging through the closet to find my other shoe, I just look for it on top of the radiator. So not only is it in plain sight, (if I dig under two quilts, a sweater, and a tennisracquet) but it's also preheated. Of course, there is a drawback, the rubber sole melted to the radiator and is now a part c the room, but the fumes keep the ants an visitors away.

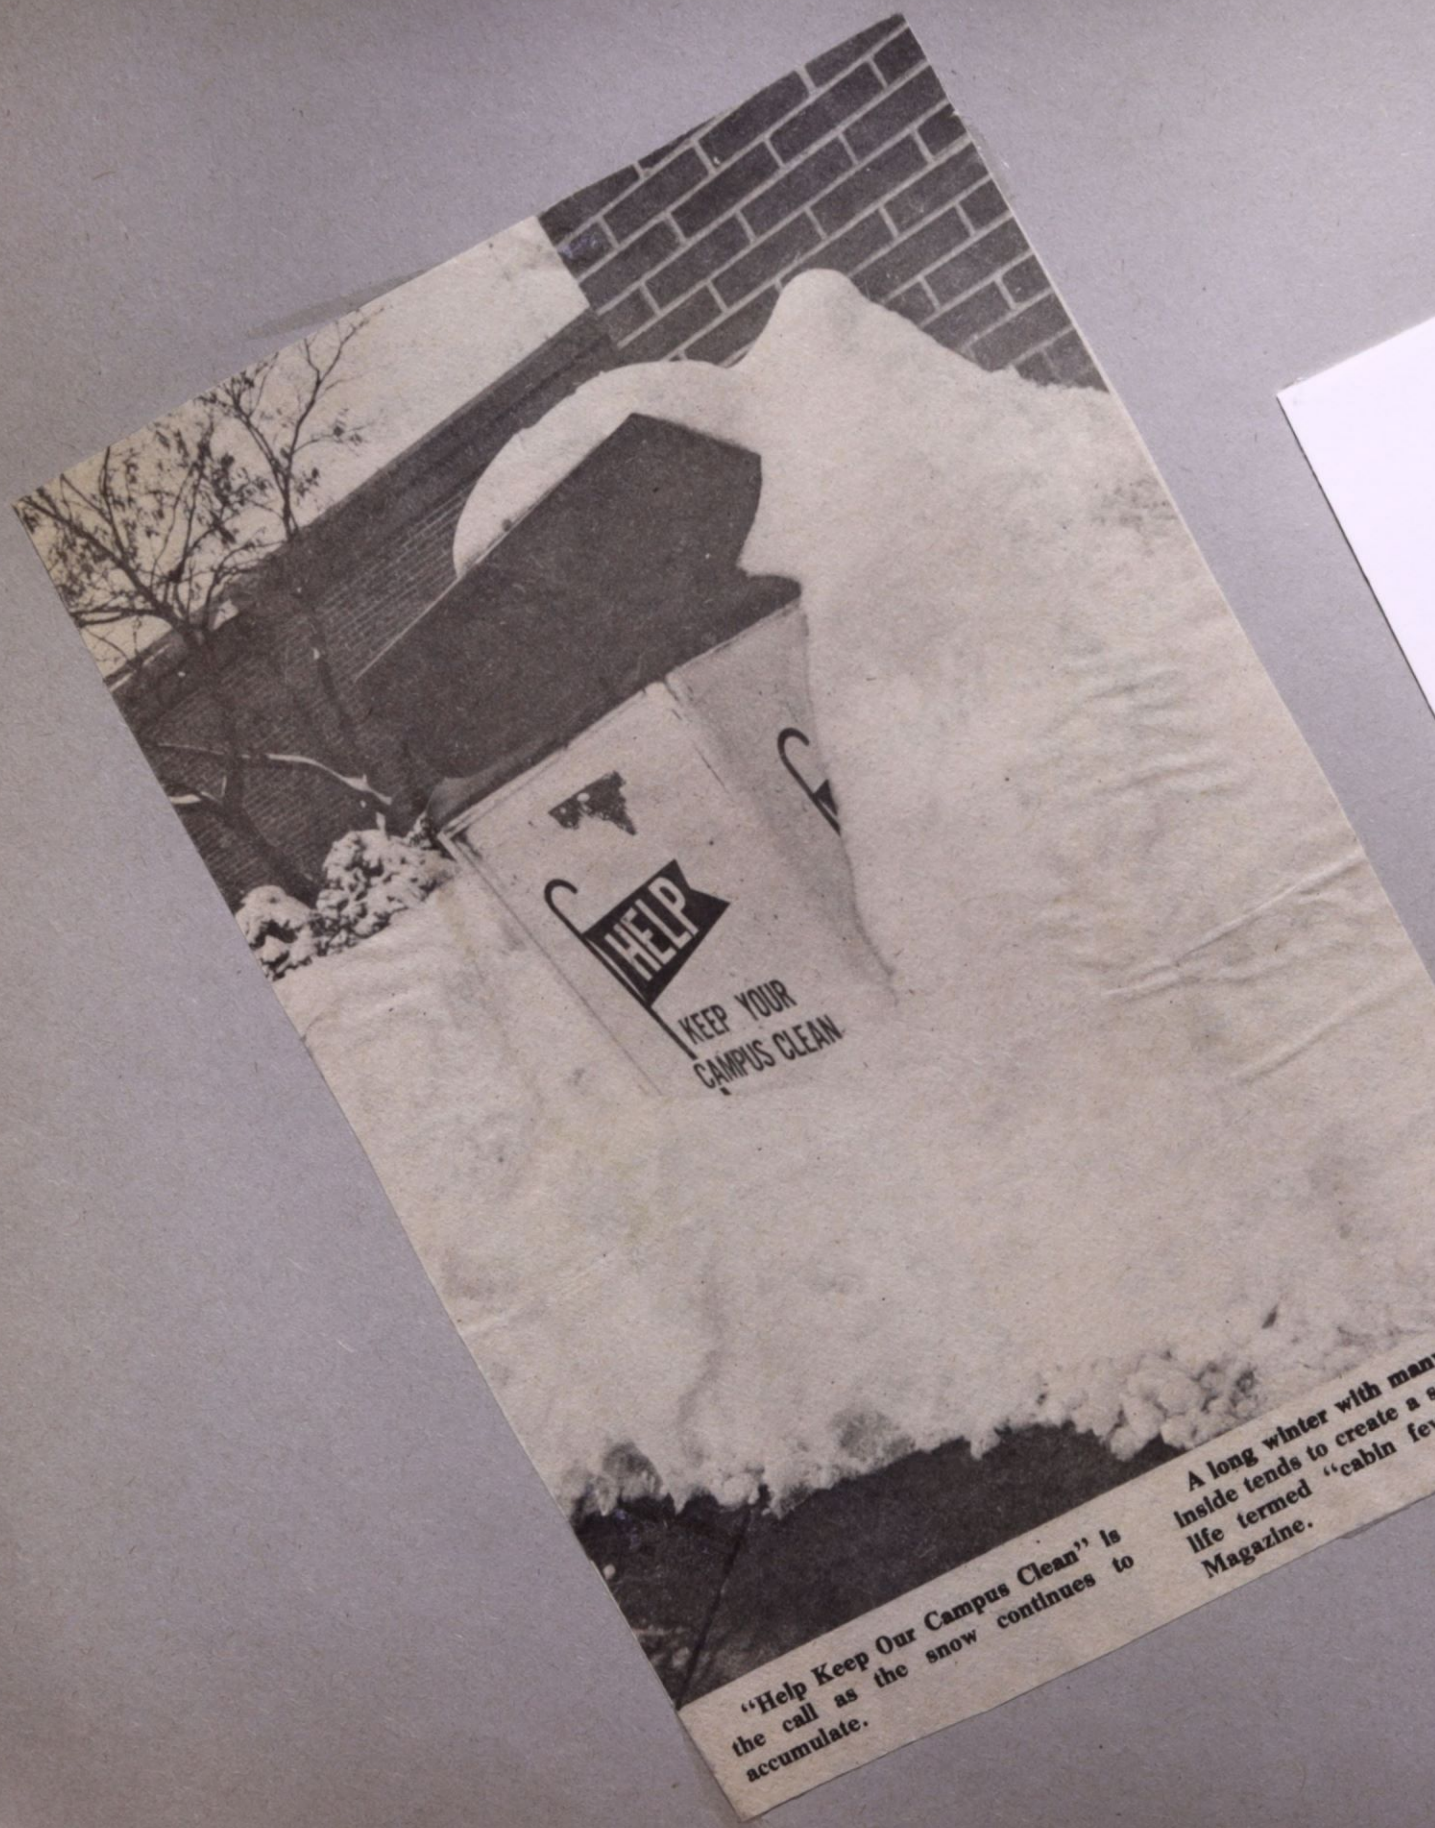
There has been speculation in the dorm o

how I manage to find my bed at night. My method is simple. Look for the highest pile of clothes and climb into the middle of it. I'm not sure if it's my bed but it does nicely.

Incidently, my room's floor isn't two inches higher than the rest of the floors. It is a natural process that results from sweeping dirt under the rug.

I suppose eventually I will conform and clean my room. It might be nice to see my desk, walk on a level floor, and be sure I'm sleeping in a bed. But I'll have to wait until May to clean. That's the earliest I can hire the two bulldozers I need.

how about yours!



"Help Keep Our Campus Clean" is the call as the snow continues to accumulate.

A long winter with many days spent inside tends to create a sad outlook on life termed "cabin fever" by TIME Magazine.
